

Against any amendment even though it would result in more fee income to NASD and another exam item.

If the advertising is false and misleading it will be picked up in an exam. Why would the NASD apply this to only new lines of business a member decides to undertake.

Does the member not know its products ?

A change in business mix requires district approval at the inception.....Right

Frank Dealy
exadv@msn.com